

About Deb: Dr. Debra Whittall is a Social Scientist with the Pacific Southwest Region of the US Forest Service and the National Partnership Office in Washington, DC. She earned her PhD in Public Administration and Policy from Portland State University in 2007 and has worked for the Forest Service 30 years. Her undergraduate degree is in hydrology from Humboldt State University in northern California. She has worked extensively in California and Oregon, as well as a year in SE Australia. She has held various positions from hydrologist and soil scientist to monitoring and appeals coordinator and policy analyst. Her dissertation, "Network Analysis of a Shared Governance System," used social network analysis to evaluate the role of networks in creating successful systems of governance.