

About Rodney: Rodney Siegel is the Executive Director of The Institute for Bird Populations. Since receiving his Ph.D. from UC Davis, he has spent much of the past 15 years studying the ecology and conservation of Sierra Nevada birds. He has developed and continues to direct broad-scale avian monitoring projects throughout the Sierra Nevada in collaboration with the National Park Service and the US Forest Service. He has published more than 25 scientific papers on avian ecology and conservation – many focusing on Sierra Nevada birds – and produced dozens of technical reports, survey protocols, and conservation plans relevant to the region and its birds.